Action: 9.17 ENGL C1002H - Introduction to Literature - Honors - Requisite of ENGL C1000
Discussion: The Chair informed attendees of an error on the agenda as there are no requisite validations for new courses. A committee member noted that since the intent was to revise ENGL 102H in order to create ENGL C1002H then perhaps that is the reason why the requisite validation was completed. Another committee member pointed out that ENGL C1000 was not yet offered so it could not be validated. The Chair informed attendees that she would like to see this approached as if it were a new course. The Chair reminded attendees that limitation of new course creation was limited to the Curriculum/Scheduling Coordinator when converting a traditional course to Common Course Numbering (CCN) course with the Chancellor's Office. The committee discussed removing the validation information from the proposal but ultimately resolved to leave the information that was already completed. A committee member noted that the agenda would need to be corrected to remove the word "validation" and the Chair agreed.

Discussion: The Chair inquired with the Curriculum/Scheduling Coordinator of the inclusion of C-ID as a prerequisite to the agenda. The Curriculum/Scheduling Coordinator informed the Chair that it was included as it was listed as a prerequisite on the proposal and on the CCN template. The committee discussed the inclusion of C-ID as a requisite to a course as it was never brought before the Curriculum Committee in the past. A committee member noted that this particular requisite was reflected on the CCN template as required for the course. Another committee member noted that while students may not be familiar with C-ID counselors are familiar with how those work. After reviewing the proposal and template the committee noted that the information was copied verbatim and resolved to approve the requisite after including the verbiage "or equivalent."

Action: 9.21 ENGL C1002H - Introduction to Literature - Honors - Correspondence Education Addendum
Discussion: A committee member requested to move correspondence education addendums to the consent agenda. Another committee member inquired as to the rationale behind the request. The committee discussed the present technological issues surrounding launching proposals that were missing key pieces of information and report inaccuracies. The chair noted that this particular course has indicators of correspondence education in the basic course information and methods of instruction areas. The Chair urged the committee to review the proposals thoroughly and to send back proposals to request updates and/or completion of key areas. The committee resolved to approve this correspondence education addendum and agreed that they can be approved under the consent agenda if they are part of a substantial revision but not if they are a new course.

Action: 9.23 ENGL C1003 - Critical Thinking and Writing through Literature - New Course

Discussion: A committee member inquired with the area representative committee member which traditional course this was be replacing. The area representative committee member noted that this would be a new course. The Chair and Curriculum/Scheduling Coordinator informed attendees that the Chancellor's Office does not presently allow the submission of new CCN courses without converting an existing traditional course. The Curriculum/Scheduling Coordinator shared that the guidance from the Chancellor's Office was to put a new course through the local approval process. Once the new course was fully approved it could be revised and subjected to the local process again to establish it as a CCN course. The Chair informed attendees that there was still time for the originator to revise this course in time for a subsequent meeting.
